

SAMPLE TAT STORY

Shriman, son of a fisherman, lived in a coastal village of Odisha. After completing his college education he was working with the fishermen community using his business knowledge for enhancing their earnings. A warning had been issued the previous day by the government authorities about a cyclone that was about to hit the coast near his village. Shriman quickly informed his friends and made a team. He along with his friends quickly organised for evacuating the village, and as the winds picked up speed and rains lashed down they had successfully taken almost everyone in the village and the cattle to the government shelter. Some of the families, however were reluctant to move. Shriman along with two of his friends went back to the village, explained the situation to them and convinced them that they will be safe in the shelter, and that they can come back as soon as the cyclone passes over. Shriman and his friends helped them reach the shelter before the cyclone could hit fully. They also arranged for food and water for everyone. Due to their quick action their village had no casualty. All the cattle were also safe. After the cyclone passed over, Shriman and his friends continued to help the villagers rebuild their lives.
